

Psalm 7:9-17

A meditation of David which he sang to the LORD concerning the words of Cush, a Benjamite

9. O let the e - vil of the wic - ked cease, but let the right - eous be es - tab - ~ lished.
11. God is a judge who jud - ges right - eous - ly, and God has in - dig - na - tion ev' - ry day.
13. He has pre - pared his in - stru - ments of death. He makes his ar - rows in - to fi - ery shafts.
15. He's dug a pit and hol - lowed it with care, and he has fal - len in the hole he made.
17. Ac - cor - ding to his right - eous - ness I will bring of - fer - ings of praise un - to the LORD,

For God, who's right - eous, tests the hearts and minds. 10. My shield's with God, who saves th'up - right of heart.
12. If he does not turn back he'll whet his sword. He's bent his bow and made it read - ~ y.
14. Be - hold, he tra - vails with in - i - qui - ty, and mis - chief he con - ceives and brings forth lies.
16. His mis - chief will re - turn on his own head, his vi - o - lence come down on his own crown.
and I will make joy - ful mu - sic un - to the name of the LORD, e - ven the Most High.
