

Psalm 32

A psalm of David, A Contemplation

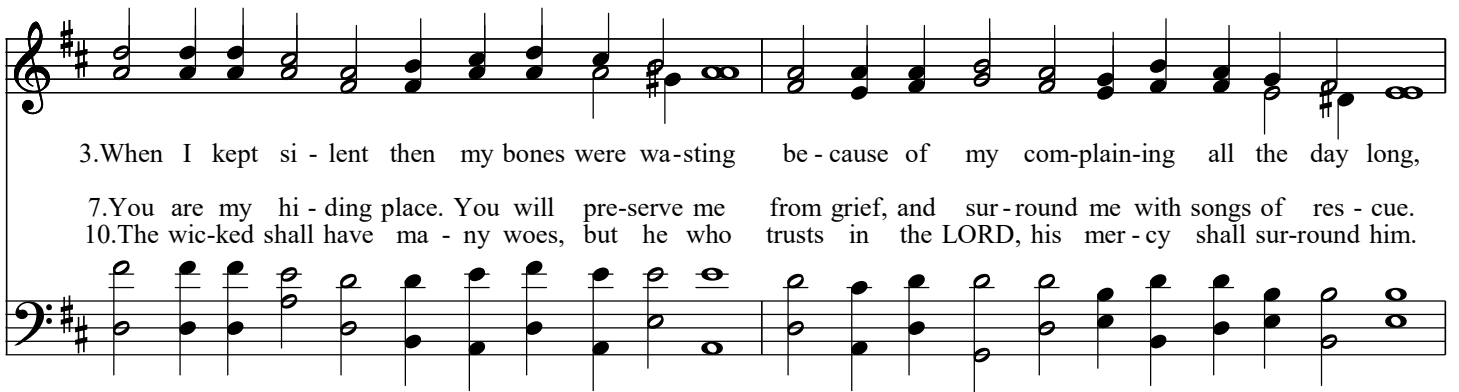

*Second stanza is a half stanza

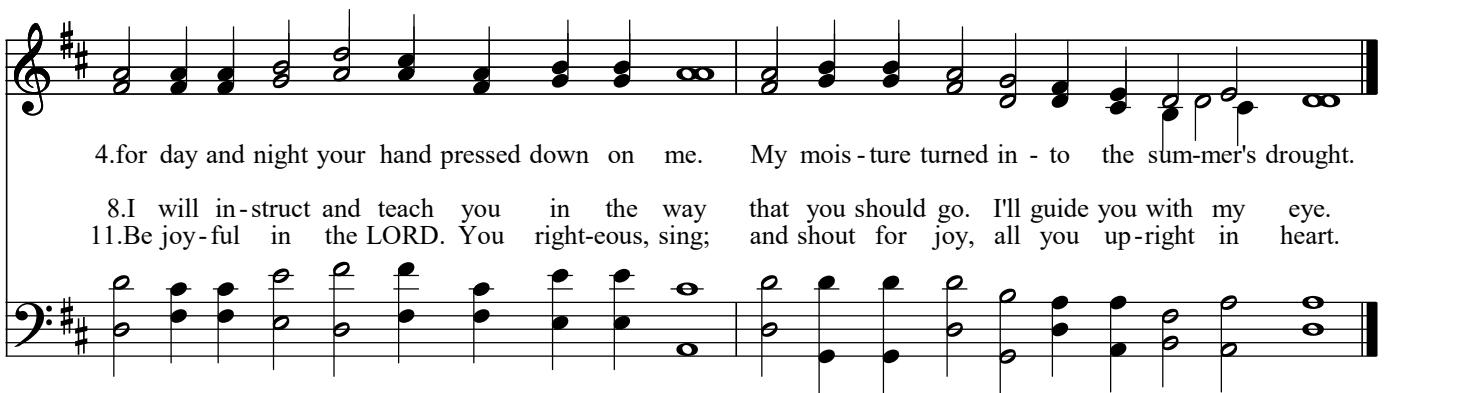

1. Bles-sed is he whose tres-pass is for-giv-en, whose sin be-fore the sight of God is cov-ered.
5. Then I ac-know-ledged un-to you my tres-pass, and my in-i-qui-ty I did not cov-er.
6. Be-cause of this shall ev-'ry-one who's god-ly pray un-to you, while in a time of find-ing.
9. Do not be like the horse or like the mule, for, since they are beasts, they have no un-der-stand-ing,

2. Bles-t is the man to whom the LORD im-putes no guilt, and in whose spir-it is no guile.=>
I said, "I'll con-fess my sin to the LORD," and you for-gave me the guilt of my sin.||
Sure-ly when floods of might-y wa-ters rise then they shall not ap-proach too near to him.=> whose mouths with bit and bri-dle must be held, lest they will not come near at your com-mand.=>

3. When I kept si-lent then my bones were wa-sing be-cause of my com-plain-ing all the day long,
7. You are my hi-ding place. You will pre-serve me from grief, and sur-round me with songs of res-cue.
10. The wic-ked shall have ma-n-y woes, but he who trusts in the LORD, his mer-cy shall sur-round him.

4. for day and night your hand pressed down on me. My mois-ture turned in-to the sum-mer's drought.
8. I will in-struct and teach you in the way that you should go. I'll guide you with my eye.
11. Be joy-ful in the LORD. You right-eous, sing; and shout for joy, all you up-right in heart.
