

Psalm 112

| Division                              |           | Letter        | Verse | Chiastic Elements      | Text  | Ps. 111Quotes |
|---------------------------------------|-----------|---------------|-------|------------------------|---|-------------------|
|                                       |           |               | 1     |                        | Hallelujah!   | v. 1a             |
| Therighteousman iswealthy | Character | alephbeth |       |                        | Happy (is) the man who fears Yahweh,who delights greatly in his commandments. |                   |
|                                       |           | gimel         | 2     |                        | Mighty in the earth will be his offspring.  |                   |
|                                       |           | daleth        |       |                        | The generation of the upright ones will be blessed.                               |                   |
|                                       | Blessings | he            | 3     |                        | Wealth and riches (will be) in his house,   |                   |
|                                       |           | waw           |       | A Righteousness | And his righteousness endures to perpetuity.                                      | v. 3b             |
|                                       |           | zayin         | 4     |                        | Light arises in the darkness for the upright ones.                                |                   |
|                                       |           | heth          |       |                        | (He is) gracious and compassionate and righteous.                                 | v. 4b             |
| Therighteousmanlends      | Character | teth          | 5     |                        | A good man (is) gracious and lends.   |                   |
|                                       |           | yod           |       |                        | He will maintain his affairs with justice.  |                   |
|                                       |           | kaph          | 6     |                        | Surely he will not be shaken forever.   |                   |
|                                       | Blessings | lamed         |       | A Righteousness | For a memorial forever will be the righteous one.                                 |                   |
|                                       |           | mem           | 7     | B he will not fear     | Evil tidings he will not fear.  |                   |
|                                       |           | nun           |       | C his heart            | Established (is) his heart, trusting in Yahweh.                                   |                   |
|                                       |           | samek         | 8     | C his heart            | Upheld (is) his heart.  |                   |
|                                       |           | ayin          |       | B he will not fear     | He will not fear until he looks on his adversaries.                               |                   |
| Therighteousman gives         | Character | pe            | 9     |                        | He has dispersed abroad. He has given to the needy.                               |                   |
|                                       | Blessings | tzadde        |       | A Righteousness | His righteousness endures to perpetuity.  |                   |
| The WickedMan                     |           | qoph          |       |                        | His horn will be high in glory.   |                   |
|                                       |           | resh          | 10    |                        | The wicked one will look and be vexed.  |                   |
|                                       | Curse     | shin          |       |                        | His teeth he will grind and he will melt.   |                   |
|                                       |           | tau           |       |                        | The desire of the wicked ones will perish.  |                   |