 16. I in the pow - er of the Lord Yah-weh him - self will per - se - vere.
 18. Now al - so when I have grown old and grey, O God, for - sake me not,
 19. Your right-eous-ness is ver - y high, O God, you who have done great things.
 21. You will in-crease my dig - ni - ty, and com-fort me on ev - ery side.
 23. My lips will hymn to you for joy, and my soul, which you have re - deemed.

15. My mouth shall tell your right-eous - ness and your sal - va - tion all day long,
 I will cause men to re - mem - ber your right-eous-ness, ev'n yours a - lone.
 un - til I have de - clared your strength un - to this gen - er - a - tion, and O God, who is at all like you? 20. You who have shown me ma - ny griefs,
 22. I with the lute will give you thanks, e - ven your faith - ful - nes, my God.
 24. Al - so my tongue will med - i - tate your right-eous - ness through - out the day, be - cause I can - not com-pre-hend the num - ber of your might - y works.

 17. O God, you've taught me from my youth, and your won - ders I still de - clare.
 to ev' - ry - one who is to come the pow'r of your ac - com-plish-ments.
 you will re - vive me once a - gain and from earth's depths will bring me up.
 To you I will hymn with the harp, O Ho - ly One of Is - ra - el.
 for they have been ~ put to shame, they've been dis - graced who seek my hurt.
