

Psalm 89:26-40

A contemplation of Ethan the Ezrahite

26.He'll cry, "You are my fath - er, God and rock of help."
30.If his sons leave my law and from my judg - ments turn,
34.The cov - e - nant I've made I will not cause to cease,
38.But you have cast him off and have ab - horred ~ him.

27.I'll make him my first - born, the high - est of earth's kings.
31.if they my stat - utes break, and keep not my com - mands, nor change the word that has been spo - ken by my lips.
You have been fu - ri - ous with your a - noin - ted one.

28.My lov - ing - kind - ness I will keep for him for - ev - er.
32.then I will vis - it with the rod ~ their trans - gres - sion,
35.Once by my ho - li - ness I've sworn, "No lies to Da - vid.
39.You have re - nounced the cov - e - nant of your ~ ser - vant.

My cov' - nant shall stand firm with him, no al - ter - a - tion.
 and pun - ish their in - i - qui - ty with chas - ~ tise - ments.
 36.His seed will last, his throne be as the sun be - fore me.
 You have pro - faned his crown by cast - ing it to the ground.

29.Al - so his seed I will make to en - dure for - ev - er,
 33.Yet I will not re - move from him my lov - ing - kind - ness.
 37.Just like the moon, it will be es - tab - lished for - ev - er,
 40.You've bro - ken down all of his hed - ges for pro - tec - tion, and cause his throne to last long as the days of heav-en.

 Neith - er will I per - mit my faith - ful - ness to fal - ter.
 and like a wit - ness in the sky that is ~ faith - ful,
 and you have al - so brought his strong-holds in - to ru - in.
